DURHAM, NH – As the fight in Washington over the Affordable Care Act continues, the law remains unpopular in the Granite State. New Hampshire residents don't think the law will do much to affect them.

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll,* conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Six hundred and sixty-three (663) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by landline and cellular telephone between October 7 and October 16, 2013. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 3.8 percent.

Health Care Reform

The Affordable Care Act, also known as “Obamacare” was at the center of the fight between Republicans and Democrats over the debt limit and the partial shutdown of the federal government. Overall, there is modest opposition to the law in New Hampshire. In the most recent Granite State Poll, only 40% of New Hampshire adults favor the legislation, 47% oppose it, and 14% are neutral or don't know enough about it to say. Attitudes on the Affordable Care Act have been stable for almost two years.

Favor / Oppose Health Care Reform Legislation

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Granite State Poll, sponsored by WMUR-TV, and conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

The Affordable Care Act remains popular among Democrats (70% favor), but remains very unpopular among Independents (26%) and Republicans (11%).

Knowledge Of Affordable Care Act

Over half of New Hampshire residents (57%) say that they have enough information about the health reform law to understand how it will impact them or their family, while 40% say they do not have enough information and 3% were unsure.

There were no differences across demographic groups and these results are consistent with a University of Connecticut National survey in August.

Effect of the Health Care Law

Nearly half (49%) of Granite Staters think that the Affordable Care Act will not make much of a difference on their families, only 11% think they will be better off, 32% think they will be worse off, and 8% were unsure. There is a significant partisan divide on this issue as 58% of Republicans think they will be worse off compared to just 9% of Democrats. Compared with a national survey in August, more New Hampshire families believe the law will not have much of an impact on their family.

The great majority of Granite Staters say they do not plan to participate in the state's health insurance marketplace -- 78% say they don't plan to participate, 15% say they do plan to participate, and 7% are unsure. Younger people and people with a high school education or less are most likely to say that they plan to participate in the marketplace.

Health Care Law and Congress

New Hampshire residents are divided about what they think Congress should do with the health care law – 24% want Congress to repeal the law entirely, 19% want them to repeal only parts of the law, 18% want them to leave the law as is, 11% want them to expand the law and 27% are unsure. Unsurprisingly, there is a significant partisan divide on this issue as 74% of Republicans favor repealing all or parts of the law while 56% of Democrats favor leaving the law as is or expanding it.

Regardless of whether they support or oppose the Affordable Care Act, over half of NH residents (55%) say it should be delayed a year in order to iron out any potential problems with implementation, 38% don't think it should be delayed, and 7% were unsure. This question also has a partisan divide – 65% of Democrats do not think the law should be delayed while 69% of Independents and 82% of Republicans say the law should be delayed.

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Six hundred and sixty-three (663) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by landline and cellular telephone between October 7 and October 16, 2013. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 3.8 percent.

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, age, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response.

Favor / Oppose Health Care Reform Legislation Passed in Congress

“Let me ask you a question about healthcare. The U.S. House and Senate passed legislation in March of 2010 that will overhaul the nation’s health care system. Based on what you have seen or heard, do you favor or oppose the health care legislation that was passed in Congress, or don’t you have an opinion?”

(ASKED IN FEB ’10) “Let me ask you a question about healthcare. The U.S. House and Senate have just passed legislation that would overhaul the nation’s health care system. Based on what you have seen or heard, do you favor or oppose the health care legislation that is going through Congress, or don’t you have an opinion?”
